

DAYDREAM

Some 'futuristic' poetry by B2

Dimitra Nikitea

*One day people will change.
People will drop off the guns and weapons and...
they will gather at the center of the world,
they'll make a circle and then...
All the continents will be one country.
All people will speak one language,
the language of Love.*

Isano Elvira

*One day people will wake up and be happy.
They will do whatever they want and have a smile on their face.
They will not have black eyes.
And the world will be different*

Sakellariou-Sofianou Maria

Day dreaming will let us see what our eyes can't just see.

*You start with things you want to do
And something you just want to get through.*

*You see your dreams come true
And the problems wait in the queue.
A world without traffic and problems
Full of kindness and knowledge.*

But the world won't be the same, without our problems every day.

Because everything you just can't get through will make you more wise and powerful.

*And if you live to daydream
when you are bored or stressed
now you know the medicine in your own, personal press!*

Stka Maria-Christina

One day, people will understand, what is wrong and what is right on our planet.

They will try to save us.

They will try to protect us, from whom?

From the real danger,

from themselves.

When those people die,

then we will be safe.

And the world will be more beautiful,

and maybe stranger.

We will understand that roses aren't only red.

But they can also be black.

That isn't only for now, but forever.

Deep in the human heart.

And we can't destroy love.

At least for now.

At least for the Earth.

And at least for the human hearts.

Roska Valeria

Well, one day people who work every day will look at the people who never work every day

and they will ask

«Why don't you work with us?»

will look at the world

and say very slowly:

«The sun is big and we are small

it's very hot, we can't work...».

But when a day of cold and snow comes,

when the people who work are happy,

the people who never work

will be hungry and very cold.

They will go to the people who are working

and they will say:

«Please, forgive us, little ladies,

we are hungry and cold

and we won't go to work».

The others will look at them for a long time.

Then they will say

«Ok, come inside!».

And all the people in the world will go to work and the world will be OK.

Mourgelas Konstantinos

One day all the people will be happy, kind, friendly and never fight each other.

Everyone will love every one and every one will help everyone.

*And the world will be better
and a quiet place for everyone.*

Pikramenos Panagiotis

One day people will be friendlier and the world cleaner than ever.

One day people will beat their fears.

As they move to a better gear.

*Scientists will find solutions and problems will disappear
magically, as they came here.*

*And the world will be peaceful,
so that all humans will be helpful,*

they will help their partner and no one will be a 'sucker'

This is how I want my future to be, today.

Nikolaou Aggelos

*One day people will stop fighting each other and peace will cover the whole world
with a very big 'wave' of love.
And the world will be better
and all the people will be together.
All the problems will be solved
in a world of peace and love...*
